Academic Integrity

The College of Education holds very high standards regarding academic integrity. Work submitted in this course must be the product of your own original effort. When you incorporate the works, words, or ideas of another, you must provide proper citations. If you are concerned about plagiarism, have questions about legitimate forms of collaboration, or are unclear about appropriate methods of citation, consult a style manual or the instructor. Along with plagiarism and unauthorized collaboration, other forms of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) falsifying attendance records and submitting the work of others as if it were your own. Violations of the Academic Integrity Policy will result in sanctions that can range from disciplinary warning, to probation or suspension, to – in the event of severe or repeated violations – dismissal from the University. For more information please refer to the College of Education's Academic Integrity Policy and related procedures: <http://education.uw.edu/my-coe/current-students/academic-policies>.

Notice – SimCheck: The University has a license agreement with SimCheck, an educational tool that helps prevent or identify plagiarism from Internet resources. Your instructor may use the service in this class by requiring that assignments are submitted electronically to be checked by Simcheck. The SimCheck Report will indicate the amount of original text in your work and whether all material that you quoted, paraphrased, summarized, or used from another source is appropriately referenced.

Disability Resources for Students

Your experience in this class is important to me. If you have already established accommodations with Disability Resources for Students (DRS), please communicate your approved accommodations to me at your earliest convenience so we can discuss your needs in this course. If you have not yet established services through DRS, but have a temporary health condition or permanent disability that requires accommodations (conditions include but not limited to; mental health, attention-related, learning, vision, hearing, physical or health impacts), you are welcome to contact DRS at 206-543-8924 or uwdrs@uw.edu or disability.uw.edu. DRS offers resources and coordinates reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities and/or temporary health conditions. Reasonable accommodations are established through an interactive process between you, your instructor(s) and DRS. It is the policy and practice of the University of Washington to create inclusive and accessible learning environments consistent with federal and state law.

Writing Center

College of Education Writing Support: The College of Education partners with the Odegaard Writing & Research Center to provide writing support for CoE students. Conveniently located in Miller Hall 207, this satellite site provides one-to-one tutoring, and our tutors work with writers at any stage of writing, including outlining, drafting, research, and revision. The CoE branch is staffed with undergraduate and graduate peer tutors who are familiar with the College of Education and who can support writers' ideas and projects throughout their writing process. For more information or to schedule an appointment, please visit our website at <https://depts.washington.edu/owrc>.

Food Insecurity and Hardship

Any student who has difficulty affording groceries or accessing sufficient food to eat every day, or who lacks a safe and stable place to live, and believes this may affect their performance in the course, is urged to contact the UW Any Hungry Husky Program. Any Hungry Husky provides hunger relief free of judgment or stigma. Go to <https://www.washington.edu/anyhungryhusky/> for information about the food pantry and food security grants. In addition, UW offers emergency aid for students experiencing unexpected financial hardships that may disrupt their education or get in the way of completing their degree. Go to <https://www.washington.edu/emergencyaid/> for more information about how to apply.

Religious Accommodations

Washington state law requires that UW develop a policy for accommodation of student absences or significant hardship due to reasons of faith or conscience, or for organized religious activities. The UW's policy, including more information about how to request an accommodation, is available at Religious Accommodations Policy (<https://registrar.washington.edu/staffandfaculty/religious-accommodations-policy/>). Accommodations must be requested within the first two weeks of this course using the Religious Accommodations Request form (<https://registrar.washington.edu/students/religious-accommodations-request/>).
